Remove valuables from vehicles

Reports of theft from vehicles can increase over the warmer months, especially in public car parks when people are enjoying outside spaces. Even items of little value may tempt a potential thief to break into a vehicle, to see what else there may be worth stealing.

- Where possible park your car in an attended car park, or look for public car parks approved by the Park Mark Scheme.
- Do not hide valuable items. Take them with you or leave them at home
- For information on alarms and locks speak to your manufacturer or visit Secured By Design.

Who called me?

Every day, people across the UK get calls from unknown numbers, and many of these turn out to be scams.

National Trading Standards are promoting Phonely, the free reverse phone lookup tool helping you find out who's behind those mystery calls. In July 2025, the community reported thousands of suspicious numbers, helping everyone stay safer. They also add these reported numbers to a blacklist, so all their clients are protected from known scam calls.
